RE: 2021 Tax Increment Financing (TIF) Funds

DATE: September 12, 2022

TIF Background. TIF is an economic development tool used by municipalities to help attract private development and new business to a specified area. The program allocates future increases in property taxes from a designated area to pay for improvements within that area. The program lasts for 23 years from the date the district is created but may be extended for 12 additional years in certain circumstances.

Under TIF, the property tax revenue generated due to (1) increased value from new development, (2) increases in assessment due to rehabilitation or improvement, or (3) rate changes are allocated to the city. This includes property taxes that would have otherwise been due to other taxing bodies, such as a park district or school district. Other taxing bodies continue to receive property taxes generated by the base value of properties in the district.

In 2014, City Council appointed the Ad Hoc TIF Committee to evaluate the city's existing TIF districts. The committee completed their review of the existing TIF's, past development agreements and best practices from other communities. As a result of those efforts, City Council adopted a TIF Policy Statement and Guideline Scoring System to evaluate the utilizations of tax increment financing and TIF districts.

The City Council and the Ad Hoc TIF Committee recognized that Tax Increment Financing (TIF) and TIF districts are an appropriate and effective tool to assist the local government in its economic development plans. TIF can be a powerful economic development tool, but when tax revenues from the TIF increment are diverted, other local governments will be affected by not receiving these revenues, which can constrain a government over the duration of the TIF.

TIF Funds Summary. The city currently has 32 TIF districts. The combined property tax increment revenue for all districts increased 24% from 2020 to 2021.

It is a typical practice for municipalities to fund TIF district improvements with bond issues that are to be repaid with property tax increment revenue. The city currently has outstanding debt service on bonds in nine TIF districts. In several districts, property tax increment revenue has not been sufficient to cover debt services payments. This has resulted in negative or deficit balances in six TIF funds.

Several districts will also likely end with a negative fund balance, absent additional development in those districts. As a result, the city must continue to adhere to the practice that unless a project can generate the necessary debt service each year, long-term financing should not be used for TIF projects. In addition, future development agreements should not commit annual payments or reimbursements exceeding the amount of property tax increment generated by that investment.
