City Issues Travel and Viewing Advisories in Advance of Officer Cox Funeral on Saturday November 11, 2017

ROCKFORD, ILL. –The City has issued travel and viewing advisories in advance of the funeral of Officer Jaimie Cox. Citizens are reminded to heed these advisories to help improve the flow of those attending the service as well as those doing business and working on Saturday November 11, 2017 between 11:00 a.m. and 2:00 p.m.

- North/South traffic through town between Mulford Rd. on the east and Springfield Avenue to the west will be significantly impacted during the procession. Those intersections include major roadways intersecting with E. State and W. State St., Charles St., Broadway, and Alpine at Newberg.
- Citizens viewing and lining the procession route are reminded there is no on-street parking allowed directly on the route to allow for the procession to move through the area; citizens are encouraged to park in near-by lots, and side streets off the direct route.
- Procession viewers in retail lots, particularly on the north side of East State St., may not have access out of the lot until after the procession has cleared.
- Individuals going about daily activities and travel throughout town are encouraged to find alternate routes to popular retail locations far east and north and to anticipate delays.

The City of Rockford thanks citizens in advance for their patience and support during this time.
